

BECKY'S

YOUNG HEARTS

Canada Geese, no one's favorite! I'll make an exception when mom and dad bring the babies to my yard. I sat in the grass with them and eventually they were comfortable enough with me and the camera to take a nap in my yard on Olympic. These siblings are regular visitors, and come running when I step outside I'm happy to watch them grow up!

CANADA GOSLINGS

JUNE 4

JULY 19

Turkeys are extremely difficult to photograph. They usually run straight for the brush before I can react. I hid behind a tree and was able to watch mom and dad take the little ones out for breakfast. (Pond by Blackstone.)

TURKEY HEN WITH CHICKS

The urgent call from Sara Spurrier had me running, camera in hand. Two fawns had taken up residence in her backyard, and wound up spending most of the day. From their calm manner, they simply appeared to be waiting for their mama, and chilling a bit off-grid. Since, one or the other has returned to nibble at Sara's cracked corn, though mama has yet to be seen.
